ESRI offers free map-making tools

Redlands-headquartered ESRI has launched a Web site that allows users to create maps for free using the company's geographic information system tools.

A statement said tools will let users perform functions including embedding an interactive demographic map into a Web site and creating custom applications.

There is also a community section where visitors can ask questions and collaborate with others. It has blogs and other features. Go to www.esri.com/mapping.

Conversion done on Vineyard branches

California Bank & Trust announced Wednesday it has completed conversion of the former Vineyard Bank, which was headquartered in Corona, into branches under its own systems. The San Diego-based bank acquired Vineyard in July, after it was closed by regulators.

A statement said more than 31,000 loan and deposit accounts have been fully integrated into the California Bank & Trust support systems.

Vineyard had 16 branches. A spokeswoman said California Bank & Trust since July has closed a Vineyard location in Sherman Oaks, and folded the operations of two others, one in Manhattan Beach and one in San Diego, into nearby California Bank & Trust branches.
